—By—
Mrs. Trudie Swisher
A Snow-storm.

All day had the snow come down all day.
As it never came down before;
And over the hills, at sunset, lay
Some two or three feet, or more.
The fence was lost, and the wall of stone,
The windows lost, and the well-
cured gone;
The haystack had grown to mountain lift
And the wood-pile looked like a monster drift,
As it lay by the farmer's door.

Attention Members! The last of the secret, all in a nut-shell.

For some weeks past our president Mrs. R. J. Hug, assisted by our program chairman, Mrs. E. Anderson have been planning in behalf of Garden Club, to entertain a Valentine party to be held Feb. 13, in the basement of the W. Funk residence, which will be converted into a large living room for the occasion. All members are requested to arrive at 1:30 sharp. Come and meet your new neighbors. A good time is planned for all.

MUSIC. WHAT IS MUSIC?
Music is a message. When you sing, or play, it is your duty to convey a message to your hearers. The message is there in the music. The composer wrote it in his work, and committed it to you to deliver. The delivering of his message takes time and thought. First you must seek; then you make it your own; third you must find the means to deliver it with truth and impressiveness. When you come to think of it, the execution is the great factor in giving out a musical message. Mr. Arthur Wiessner, conductor of the student band of Blue Island, has and is still faithfully working with his pupils, that they be able to deliver any musical message, clear and intelligibly, by both classical and modern composers. Come and enjoy a musical evening with Mr. Wiessner and his band, sponsored by the Garden Club. The place is Saenger Hall. The date, Feb. 21, 1930. The time, 8 o'clock. Come and bring the family with you.

A group of ladies, members of the Garden Club, motored to Joliet recently to enjoy the play presented by the Joliet Buds, and the Forget-me-not Garden Buds, given under the directorship of Mrs. George Arheiter. The name of the play was "The Little Garden". The origin of (continued on back page)

Herbert R. Jones Seeks Nomination For Treasurer

In the coming primaries we have a man seeking the office of County Treasurer of Will County, who has never ran for public office. But his qualifications and experience in the office of County Treasurer are excellent for he has served eight years as Deputy County Treasurer, and previous to holding this position had two years banking experience.

Herbert R. Jones resides at Peotone where he lived until 8 years old and has lived the remainder of his life in Manhattan, where he attended the public schools, later attending Northwestern University.

During the World War Mr. Jones enlisted in the navy where he made most conspicuous record and received highest commendations from all his superior officers. Upon their recommendation an Ensign commission was awarded, for his exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous services.

Upon his return to civilian life, Mr. Jones took up banking, after 2 years services, entered the County Treasurer's office as Deputy County Treasurer where we find him today acting in that capacity.

He is a member of the American Legion, Moose, Masonic Bodies and is a Shriner.

In an interview, Mr. Jones pointed out that he believed in equal distribution of county money to the various banks. Mr. Jones pointed out that past experience in the office of County Treasurer is an important essential in fitting him for public service. "I believe the experience and past record in the office of County Treasurer a very important factor and I am appealing to the voters of Will County to nominate me at the primary election next April 8th."

Don C. Hall In Legislative Race

Don C. Hall who was a candidate for representative in the 41st senatorial district 2 years ago, has announced his candidacy for the same office on the Republican ticket at the primaries of April 8th. Mr. Hall's friends in Mokena are circulating his petition now. Mr. Hall served in the Wisconsin legislature some years ago with distinction.

MOKENA GARDEN CLUB NOTES

Publicity Chairman
MRS. OTTO BARTELS,

The regular meeting of the Mokena Garden Club was held in the home of Mrs. Albert Steele, Tuesday afternoon, February 4, 1930. A good attendance was present.

The meeting was called to order and in behalf of the Mokena Garden Club, Mrs. Braun, president extended a welcome to Mrs. Hug, Mrs. Neilson and Mrs. Moss, being special guests from the Tinley Park Garden club after which the president read a poem, "Plant we a Tree". Mrs. Neilson gave a talk on forcing the Thornapple blossom. Mrs. Moss told about their display and arrangements at Hotel Sherman, also about miniature models. Mrs. Hug spoke on Garden Clubs of Illinois.

Mrs. Mall, of the program committee gave a talk on Tree Surgery. Mrs. Lowe on "Bud Forcing" and Mrs. Albert Braun on "Forest Preserves". These talks were very interesting and also very instructive.

Mrs. Mall then presented each member with a souvenir given by the Frank Mall Lumber Company.

Mrs. Tooley also had a very interesting surprise for the members.

At the close of the meeting a Buffet lunch was served. Our next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. August Pfeiffer, Tuesday afternoon, March 4, 1930, at 2 o'clock.

A lengthy poem has been received for this column but will have to be carried over to next week due to lack of space this week.

Lyman Austin Dies In Silver Cross Hospital

Lyman Austin, 73 years old, a resident of White Water, Montana, died in Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, Sunday following an operation.

Mr. Austin was visiting here with his daughter, Mrs. Elsie Moore, 1207 Oakland avenue, Joliet.

He was born November 6, 1856 in Homer township. In 1880 he was married to Sarah Carol. Three children, Elsie A. Moore, Lula Baker and Laura Paulson were born of the marriage. Mrs. Austin died Dec. 28, 1892.

In 1894 he was married to Ella J. Castle. Seven children were born of this marriage. They are Harry, Howard, James, Mrs. Beulah Burris, Theodore, Ray and Lyman Austin. All ten children survive.

He is survived by his aged mother, Mrs. Betsy Austin, of Orland Park, four brothers, John, James, Buel and Homer Austin, the latter of Orland Park, and a sister, Hattie Austin also of Orland Park.

Funeral services were held at the Sonntag funeral home, Joliet at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Burial in Brooks cemetery.

Meet Sat. Night to Organize Mokena Boy Scouts

It has been the aim of National Headquarters to make it possible for every boy of Scout age, throughout the entire country, to enjoy the benefits of Scouting. The new Area plan of organization is being used throughout the twelve Regions of the United States. Mokena is automatically part of Rainbow Council with Headquarters in Joliet. Some fine things are being done for Will and Grundy boys. That Mokena boys have not had Scouting has been Mokena's fault. Several men believe Mokena boys should have the Scouting privileges. The boys are anxious for it. To organize and put Scouting over right, several men must be willing to give it some time and thought.

Field Executive, E. M. McConnell, will be here Saturday night at eight o'clock in the new school to meet all those who are interested in Scouting in the interest of organizing a Troop of Boy Scouts in Mokena.

Tinley Legion Notes

The Tinley Park Legion Post 615 has been paid the prize money of $15 due them for winning first prize in December as the first post in the district to fill their full quota of membership. A prize of $15 first prize and $10 second prize was offered by Mayor John Jaranowski of Calumet to the post filling their membership quotas first.

The Tinley Post is also showing a deep interest in the statewide membership drive which opens February 15th. The Tinley Post hopes to bring their membership up to fifty before the close of 1930. Commander Frank Hoar is in receipt of a letter from national Commander, Bodenheimer, congratulating the Tinley Post on their success.

Slash In Commutation Tickets Goes Into Effect March 1st

The commuters of the Rock Island residing at Mokena and Tinley Park are much pleased over the result of the fight waged for a reduction of fares from these towns to Chicago on the 60 and 25 ride tickets which was granted at a hearing before the Illinois Commerce Commission in Chicago last Thursday.

Several months ago L. G. Bruder, president of the Mokena Emmerson Republican Club, sent a communication to Lottie Holman O'Neill, representative of 41st senatorial district, expressing his belief that the Rock Island railroad was charging excessive rates for commutation tickets between Mokena and Chicago. Representative O'Neill immediately commenced an investigation, and arrived at the conclusion that the rates the company was charging the people of Mokena for commutation tickets were not only excessive, but that the company unfairly discriminated between the people of Mokena and Tinley Park; also that the railroad company refused to accommodate the Joliet township high school students residing in Mokena.

Representative O'Neill arranged with the Illinois Commerce Commission for a hearing, which was set for January 30. The hearing was before all the members of the commission at its chambers in the City Hall Square building, Chicago. The Rock Island railroad by its counsel and officials, opposed any reduction of rates and the changing time of any of its trains. Upon the conclusion of the hearing the Commerce Commission ruled that the Rock Island had been charging excessive rates and that there did exist discrimination; also a ruling was entered that after March 1, 1930 the following reductions be made: 60 ride monthly ticket formerly based on Joliet rate of $13.20 reduced to basis figured from Mokena to Chicago to $11.88; 25 ride ticket reduced from $12.54 to $11.25.

The Rock Island railroad sold 46 ride school tickets between Mokena and Joliet for $8.52 and the train arrived in Joliet at 8:40 a. m. As the sessions of the high school commenced at 8:30, the high school students from Mokena and vicinity were unable to take the train to Joliet and were obliged to drive an automobile. The Commission gave the decision, that the train would arrive in Joliet in time for the commencement of the high school sessions and the rates for school tickets were reduced to $5.59.

Approximately 80 commutation tickets are sold passengers monthly at Mokena for Chicago and, therefore, there is a great saving to the Mokena people. In addition to the benefit of the reduction the parents of students are deriving, there is also the convenience of the train arriving in time for the opening of the high school session. The New Lenox commuters also are to enjoy a reduction in their rates.

Here is what one commuter said about the fight:
"Lottie O'Neill is not allied with special interests, and does not hesitate to represent the people in their fight against utilities where there exists unfairness and injustice to the people."

Here is what one commuter said about the fight:

C. Schenkel, Former Mokena Police Chief Dies

Conrad Schenkel, aged 69 years, former chief of police of Mokena, passed away quite suddenly in Chicago at the home of sister, Mrs. Sophena Hein Saturday, Feb. 1st.

A heart attack was the cause of death. Mr. Schenkel was visiting with his sister when he was stricken.

Conrad Schenkel was born Feb. 20, 1860 in Oderheim, Rheinhesen, Germany. He came to America in 1874, settling in Chicago. April 12, 1880 he was married in that city to Miss Katherine Burger. To this union five children were born of whom two Conrad, Jr., and Charles William died some years ago. Mrs. Schenkel also preceded her husband in death quite a number of years ago. He settled in Mokena and vicinity in the eighties. He served the village of Mokena as police chief for many years.

He is survived by two sons, John and Edward, two grand children, one great grand child, all of Mokena; his sister Mrs. Hein and many friends.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the St. John Evangelical church in Mokena, Rev. G. G. Bratzel officiating. Burial in St. John cemetery, Mokena.

Mr. Schenkel was a member of the Mokena camp No. 3180 of the M. W. A.

Heart Attack Proves Fatal To Newton Hines

Newton Hine, aged 75 years, one of the oldest residents of New Lenox died Sunday morning at the home of his niece in Joliet following a sudden heart attack.

He was never ill during all his long life. During the last cold wave he froze both of his feet and had been staying with his niece in Joliet for the past two weeks. His feet were much improved, the swelling having gone down and he had less pain.

Last Sunday morning he had a desire to see his old home farm where he had lived alone for many years. His nephew brought him there. Later they went back to Joliet and a few minutes after reaching the home of his niece, he was stricken with a heart attack and died very suddenly. He was affectionately known as "Uncle Newt" by many youngsters and they as well as the legion old time friends will miss him.

He was born in New Lenox township in October 1854 and lived here practically all his life with the exception of a few years spent in Kansas. He devoted all his life to agricultural pursuits.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Clara Fry and Mrs. Addie Wilson one step-brother, George H. Smith, all of Joliet, several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held from the New Lenox M. E. church Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. David R. Ross officiating. Burial was in Maplewood cemetery, in New Lenox.

Horse Sale Goes Over With a Bang

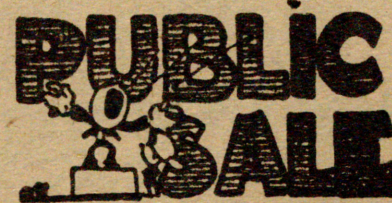

The horse sale held at Monee on Jan. 31 by the Northwest Horse Sales Company of which H. F. Yunker of Mokena is salesman, was a very good sale even though another sale was being held a few miles away. The best horse sold at $161.50 and reports are that the horses were a very good bunch and handled well. There is a good demand for horses this spring as they are scarce.

Mr. Yunker will hold another horse sale at Monee Feb. 11th.

To Sponsor Illustrated Lecture

Tinley Park Legion Post No. 615 will sponsor an illustrated lecture on the life of Abraham Lincoln at the American Legion Community Hall in Tinley on Wednesday evening, Feb. 12 at 8:15 p. m.

Village Attorney John C. Lewie will present the lecture. He has spent many years in an intensive study of this subject.

Orland Church Nite Supper Feb. 12

The monthly church nights as sponsored by the Orland Park M. E. church have become quite popular.

The next church night program is to be held Wednesday, Feb. 12. The pot luck supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. as usual. Everyone invited. The program begins 7:30 p. m. in the church auditorium is very unusual this time. The boys of the Sunday school have a big surprise to present.

Mrs. L. J. Brown of Chicago is to be the speaker of the evening. She will present the work that is being done by the church in the cities, the mountain section of the south and the pioneering sections of the north west. Moving pictures will depict a Northwestern University football game in action; a reel on the lumber section of the northwest and one on the life of the mountain folk of the south will also be shown also a news reel and one of the best of "Our Gang" comedies.

Mrs. A. C. Kay is chairman of supper committee and Mrs. Earl Holt is chairman of the program committee.

The purpose of these monthly church nights is to foster a spirit of fellowship among the members and friends of the church and to present the problems of the church and community in an interesting and educational way. Rev. Sanders will welcome suggestions as to future programs or any thing that might make these monthly gatherings more interesting or effective.

Everyone is invited to attend the supper and program. This is a gathering for the entire family. However it is requested that children should be accompanied by their parents.

Tinley to Save $1500 Yearly By Ticket Rate Cut

The slash in commuters ticket rates from Tinley Park to Chicago, will mean a saving of about $1500 a year to the Tinley commuters it is said. The old 60 ride ticket rate was $11.65 and the new rate is $10.15. The 25 ride ticket rate has been $7.65 and the new rate to be $7.30. The new rates go into effect March 1.

Another Horse Sale Feb. 11

H. F. Yunker, well known Mokena horse salesman, had planned to hold a horse sale at Monee on Wednesday, Feb. 12 and gave the date as such when he ordered the adv. appearing on page 5 to run. After the inside pages had been printed Mr. Yunker found he will have to hold the sale on Feb. 11 instead and ask that this explanation be made. Remember the DATE is Feb. 11th.

Frankfort to Have 2 Day Celebration

A big two day Oliver Day celebration will be held by Raymond Warming with the co-operation of Frankfort merchants Feb. 21 and 22 the nature of the event being a tractor and power farming school. Free lunch will be served and entertainment will be furnished.

They Are 24c Each

The printer's devil got his finger in the pie and consequently the adv of the Tinley Park Bakery on page 5 reads "Neopolitan Squares 27c each" when it should read "24 cents each". Note this correction.

MOKENA P. T. A. ACTIVITIES

By Publicity Chairman,
Mrs. F. Braun

The Valentine Party voted to be given at the Mokena school auditorium, Friday evening, Feb. 14 and sponsored by the P. T. A. will be postponed as the auditorium is to be used by the school that evening.

Letter from A Commuter

To Mokena Commuters:

You all know at this time that a rate reduction on monthly tickets, 25 ride tickets and school children tickets will soon go into effect.

For a few, and a very few indeed the saving of $1.32 a month or $15.84 a year on 60 ride tickets, over a dollar on 25 ride tickets and $3.00 on school tickets might be of little interest, but to the majority of us wage earners, it is an item to be thankful for.

It is an understood fact that any railroad will not of their own accord reduce rates except thru competition or thru decisions of the various commerce commissions. In an informal hearing before the Illinois Commerce Commission at their Chicago headquarters in the City Hall Square Building Wednesday, Jan. 29 official representatives of the Rock Island admitted that the passenger rates on commuters tickets were out of line and before representatives of Mokena and Tinley Park with their respective attorneys accepted the rates suggested to them by the speaker of the commission, although not without a battle on the reduction asked for.

There was not the slightest intention in our demand to arouse ill feeling between the Rock Island officials and the commuters. All that was asked for was to adjust our rates in proportion with all other railroads having commutation to and from Chicago.

The idea of waiting for such a time until a greater number of commuters have settled in this territory thereby getting better services and cheaper rates is rather antiquated. Modern business of today does not sit back and wait for customers but will make every effort in its power to get them. The same applies to railroading, (regardless of what some individuals will try to tell you) that they also should make an effort to make rates and train service attractive to the average class of people in order to induce them to move into the out lying suburbs.

You all or less know by this time who started the ball rolling for our benefit. But what many of us do not know is the work and time it took of one individual in particular to help bring this rate reduction to pass. Namely, the getting together of all tariff books of each railroad, to work out each rate of such railroads by comparison with the Rock Island by miles and stations, a sample of this work being recently published in The News-Bulletin, and to have on hand all data that was necessary to meet all arguments that might come up before the commission to defeat our request. Also including telephone calls, typing of manuscripts, consulting attorneys, all of which he did in his business hours, and outside. While the most of us were willing to back financially the request for rate reduction, very few would have taken the time off and gather with persistent tenacity all this material. Regardless of political differences we have or may not have, altho I do not see any reason why politics should be injected into this issue with Mr. Bruder.

FITTED PRINCESS SILHOUETTE; CALL OF THE SPRING MODE

AFTER all, it is the simplest frocks which are usually the loveliest. At least that is the message which the exquisite gown of white moire in the picture conveys.

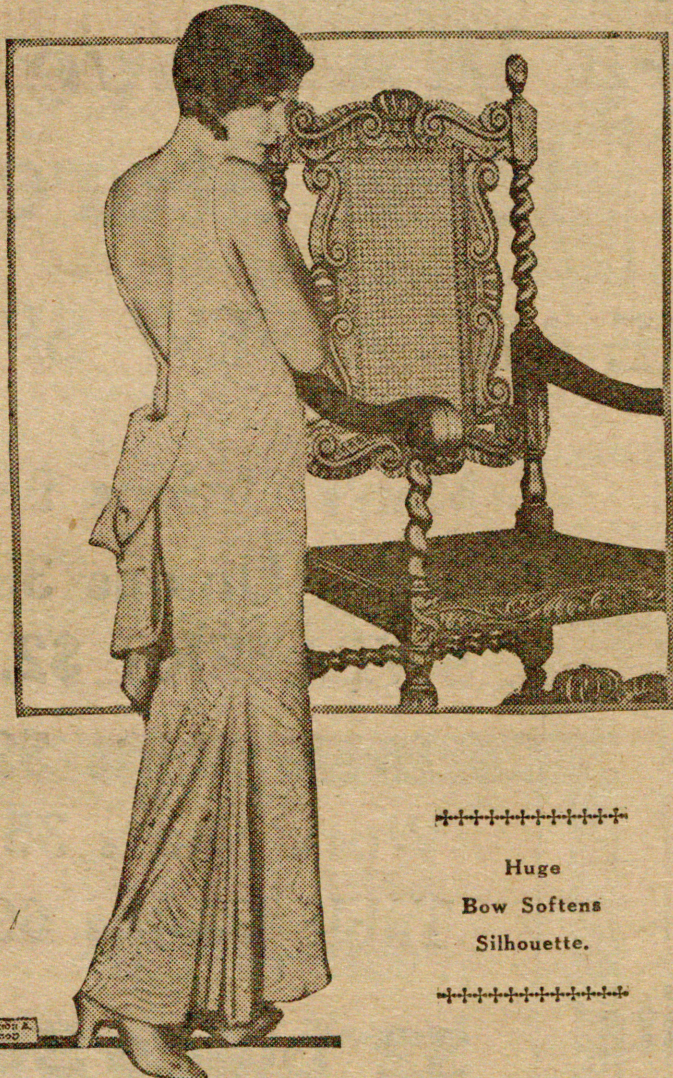

This lovely princess frock can scarcely be said to be of the off-sung "sweet simplicity" type. Rather does its every line bespeak that "sophisticated simplicity" so eagerly sought.

Lest the technique of the molded-to-the-figure princess lines with their low-placed flares prove too severe, designers are adding a softening note in the way of a huge bow placed either at one hip as illustrated, or at some latest coil of the mode is for the suit which features the jacket with a shoulder cape and a collarless neckline. The model in second illustration is thus fashioned. Two-toned yellow tweed is used in its development.

The tweeds and novelty woolsens employed for the new suits and ensembles are for the most part very colorful. Such high colors as red, violet grayish greens, blues and pinkish tones are sponsored by leading stylists.

Not only are jackets and top coats made with capes but the majority of one-piece cloth street frocks usually flaunt capes. Sometimes the cape is other equally as advantageous point. Repeatedly, these enormous bows enhance the formal evening silhouette. They are for the most part of self-material.

The hemline of the white moire gown pictured is interesting for the reason that it is even, or at least, very nearly so, all around. The newest modes call for even hemlines rather than the pointed, jagged and generally erratic effects.

If there is any fabric which yields more beguilingly than moire to the new princess evening silhouettes, dressmakers and couturiers have yet to find it. Of course, the moire pastels are good to look upon, and their number is legion, but there is that about the all-white moires which spells enchantment to even a greater degree. Now that the charming blonde, Princess Marie Jose selected white moire for one of the frocks in her merely a little shoulder affair attached to the jacket or coat, then again the cape is made a separate item to serve in place of either jacket or coat. In fact all signs point to a widespread vogue for cape-and-skirt costumes.

The tweed ensembles which have a cape are stunning. Usually, the skirt of very colorful loosely-woven skirt tweed is plaited or cut circular, for there must be a flare. The blouse of crepe, shantung or challis favors the tuck-in type. As to the cape, the smartest are three-quarter length.

Some of the most arresting models among the new caped versions top a one-piece sports dress of handsome cloth with a cape of self fabric, the same plaited into a yoke, the skirt flare repeating the plaits.

Whether it be a jacket suit or a two-piece ensemble which is caped it is apt to abound in interesting "dressmaker touches." That is the severely trousseau with a coat of the same lavished with white fox, the impulse has been obviously quickened to employ this delectable material for both formal daytime and evening wear.

Very long and very decollete white gowns, whether of satin, tulle, moire or taffeta, are outstanding among the newer modes for midseason social occasions. In many instances the big-bow theme is exploited for these queenly white gowns, in that a huge bow is placed at the back, the long widening streamers developing into a graceful train.

Cape Theme Emphasized. Throughout spring styling, emphasis is placed on the cape theme. The tailored types are outnumbered by those which exploit clever manipulation in the way of tucks, godets, fancy insets, applied bands of self fabric which are generously stitched, fancy contrast pipings and other intriguing manipulation which makes for effective styling.

Stunning ensembles are fashioned of lace-woven jersey, which in turn is trimmed with plain jersey, the latter criss-crossed in designful bands and forming fanciful borderings. Quite a few of these jersey models have capes which also combine the lace-patterned with the plain.

SAVORY AND SWEET BUTTERS

With butter as a base, one may prepare various spreads that will add much to a sandwich; then there are butter balls which, served with bread at the table, will add to any menu.

With a crisp lettuce leaf or a slice of two of pickle or cucumber one has a tasty sandwich always on tap. The butters are kept in jars in the ice chest and will keep for some time.

Crab or Lobster Butter.—Pound to a paste one small can of lobster or crab, or its equivalent of cooked fresh fish. Season lightly with pepper. When using this butter for sandwich filling spread on slice of bread with mayonnaise and the other with the crab mixture, add a lettuce leaf or slice of cucumber and serve.

Sardine Butter.—Take one-fourth cupful of butter, four large sardines skinned and boned and one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Pound these into a smooth paste. When using for sandwich filling spread one-half the bread with the paste and the other half with a thin layer of minced onion or mashed hard cooked egg.

Cheese Butter.—Mash together one-half cupful of American cheese and one-half cupful of butter. Spread one-half the sandwich with tart jelly and the other with the cheese mixture. Crackers or saltines may be used, and any snappy cheese.

Orange Butter.—Beat to a cream one-fourth pound of butter, the yolks of three eggs, one cupful of powdered sugar, the grated rind and juice of an orange. Cook over hot water, stirring all the time until the mixture is thick.

Shrimp Butter.—Take one cupful of cooked shrimps, salt and a few dashes of cayenne. Pound in a mortar, mix with an equal portion of butter and one-fourth cupful of lemon juice or tarragon vinegar to moisten.

SOUR CREAM NOODLES

As often sour milk and cream accumulates, one must be alert to make the best use of such valuable food.

Johnny cake is one of the best of hot breads to use the sour milk or cream. If one has cream, the shortening may be lessened or left out entirely.

Sour milk and sour cream may take the place of the sweet milk in any recipe when using flour. A bit of soda, often not more than an eighth of a teaspoonful need be added and the usual baking powder used as in the recipe for sweet milk. It is better to stir the soda into the sour milk or cream, seeing that it is well dissolved, before adding to the flour and egg mixture.

When sour cream is to be substituted for fat, one must remember that it takes the place of some of the liquid as well as fat. A very little experience will enable one to judge of the richness of cream and the exchange when using it instead of butter.

Another point to be remembered is that sour milk needs a bit more thickening than sweet, as the lactic acid acts on the gluten of the flour, softening it.

Sour Cream Cakes.—Take one cupful of thick sour cream, add three-eighths of a teaspoonful of soda, stir until it is foamy. Add one cupful of sugar and beat well until creamy and well mixed. Break two eggs into the mixture and beat again. Mix and sift two cupfuls of flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of salt; stir gradually into the mixture. Add one-half teaspoonful of vanilla or lemon extract. Drop into well-greased gem pans and bake until brown. A raisin may be added to each and the tops sprinkled with sugar and nutmeg or cinnamon, if one likes.

Sour Cream Spice Cakes.—Add to the above recipe, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoonful each of allspice and cloves. Sift these with the flour.

Sugar Cookies.—Take one cupful of sugar, one egg, one cupful of thick sour cream, one-half teaspoonful of soda, flour to roll—about two cupfuls—two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of lemon extract and a grating of nutmeg. Mix and roll out only a portion at a time. Brush the cookies with milk and sprinkle with coarse sugar. Bake ten minutes in a hot oven. This amount makes three dozen thin cookies two and one-half inches in diameter.

Chocolate Drop Cookies.—Take one cupful of brown sugar, one egg, one cupful of thick sour cream, one-half teaspoonful each of soda and salt, three-fourths of a cupful of nutmeats, one and one-half cupfuls of whole wheat flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, three squares of chocolate and three-fourths of a cupful of raisins. Mix and drop by teaspoonfuls on baking sheet. Bake at lower temperature than sugar cookies. This recipe makes three dozen.

We Should Keep Careful Watch of our Kidneys.

KIDNEY disorders are too serious to ignore. It pays to heed the early signals. Scanty, burning or too frequent kidney excretions; a drowsy, listless feeling; lameness, stiffness and constant backache are timely warnings.

To promote normal kidney action and assist your kidneys in cleansing your blood of poisonous wastes, use Doan's Pills. Used and recommended the world over. Sold by good dealers everywhere.

50,000 Users Endorse Doan's:

Mrs. Alice Gunnis, 3440 Harrison Ave., Detroit, Mich., says: "I suffered with a dull ache across my back that bothered me a great deal when I was doing my housework. When stooping, my back pained so that it was a task to straighten up again. My kidneys acted very irregularly, but after taking Doan's Pills I felt fine again and the backache left me. I gladly recommend Doan's."

Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.

Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.

Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.

Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy.

Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.

Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.

Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for My sake.

Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.—Matthew 5:3-12.

CAUGHT SHORT!

Eddie Cantor's book, "Caught Short!" a saga of Walling Wall Street, just published by Simon and Schuster, has taken the country by storm. Within two weeks of its publication 75,000 copies have been sold, placing this book first on all best-seller lists throughout the country. The book is a travesty of the recent stock market crash, and is helping Wall Street laugh itself back to sanity. (Herbert).

Genius Budded Early

Douglas Jerrold achieved success on the stage with a farce written when he was fourteen, and William Henry Ireland produced his famous Shakespeare forgeries, and for a time deceived the most learned men in the country, when he was only seventeen.

There is no use for us to ask anxiously if our power is increasing. There is no doubt of that. The only question is whether it is increasingly good or increasingly evil.—Amos R. Wells.

Rite Discontinued

The last continual burnt offering made by the Jews in Jerusalem was probably made A. D. 71, since which time no such offering was made.

You need a telephone in your kitchen

In your home, the kitchen is the center of domestic affairs. It is a combination of buying, cooking and service departments in which a telephone extension can relieve you of the many routine tasks which take up so much time when done in person.

Here a telephone extension will take your grocery and meat orders. Here you can talk to friends without risking a burnt dinner. Here a telephone extension will bring you a dozen things without wasting your time or energy.

Bedroom and living room comfort may also be enhanced by telephone extensions. The cost is small.

Pay Huge Auto License Fee

St. Clair county leads all downstate counties in the total of automobile license fees paid the state, according to the annual figures announced today by Secretary of State William J. Stratton.

In the year ending December 31, 1929, St. Clair county residents purchased $379,944 worth of automobile license plates to displace Kane county which led at the end of 1928. Kane county finished second with a total of $368,146.

Peoria county, which held third position at the end of 1928 retained that place with a total payment of $365,439. Winnebago county, with $354,777, took fourth place from Madison county which dropped to fifth place with $353,900. Will county, which finished in sixth place at the end of 1928 by virtue of its total of $268,452, went to tenth place last year with its total of $275,865 being passed by Lake, Rock Island, Sangamon and La Salle.

Lake county with a total of $322,067 jumped from seventh to sixth place and registered the greatest percentage of increase of all the counties of the state, including Cook.

Lake county's increase was $65,635, or approximately 25 percent whereas the average increase for the state as a whole was 10 percent and Cook county's increase was 14 percent. DuPage county also registered a remarkable gain when its total fees jumped from $233,344 in 1928 to $274,130 in 1929, an increase of approximately 16 percent.

Business men of Chicago, residing and registering their cars in these counties, are largely responsible for these unusual increases.

Cook county paid $6,973,468 in 1929 as compared with $6,107,675 in 1928, an increase of $865,793.

All of the auto fees collected last year, a total of $17,087,209 are paid by the secretary of state into the state treasury to be used exclusively for roads.

The Statistics, showing the annual automobile license fee payments by the respective counties, will be turned over by Secretary of State Stratton to the finance department of the state government where they will be used as the basis for allocating the counties' share of the three cent gas tax.

The gasoline tax law provides that one cent of the three cent tax shall be refunded to the counties according to the percentage of the total fees each county paid the secretary of state the preceding year.

County Com. Candidates File Petitions

Five country town county commissioner candidates on the Business Men's Republican Organization slate this week filed their primary petitions. In several cases the entire lists of petitioners were secured in only three or four days, indicating popular support for these well known men and women who seek to clean up affairs in this financially tangled county of Cook.

In addition, the entire city slate of the Business Men's organization which is headed by Axel Lonnquist of Wilmette for president of the Board, filed petitions. Other country town candidates on this ticket include Daniel J. Brumley, 18909 Bruce avenue, Flossmoor; Mrs. Gertrude C. Lieber, 468 Ridge avenue, Winnetka; Charles B. Miller, 1400 South Second avenue, Maywood and Dr. Thomas E. Roberts, 320 North Euclid avenue, Oak Park.

Frank J. Loesch is chairman of the organization and Robert McCormick Adams is executive chairman. The ticket is not affiliated with any of the so-called "regular" political machines in Cook county.

Axel Lonnquist, candidate for president of the County Board, is a well known real estate man with offices at 110 South Dearborn st. He resides in Wilmette. He was largely responsible for the formation of the Business Men's Organization which overthrew the Robert Crowe regime. He has been director of the Chicago Real Estate Board, member of the Civic Development committee of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and a director of the First National Bank of Wilmette. He is past chairman of the City Planning committee and first chairman of the Out-door Advertising committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. His committee advocates strict control of billboards in residential sections.

Mrs. Gertrude C. Lieber, candidate for county commissioner, has resided in Winnetka for 23 years and has been very active in club and civic work. She was for four years chairman of the Education department of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, has been an officer of the Illinois League of Women Voters and the Illinois Parent-Teachers association, as well as the American Legion auxiliary. She is now secretary of the Winnetka Board of Education, a member of Winnetka Plan commission, and a former president of Winnetka Woman's club. She is a member of the faculty of the National Kindergarten and Elementary college of Evanston, where she is an instructor in citizenship.

Daniel J. Brumley, county commissioner candidate, resides in Flossmoor, and is Chief Engineer, Chicago Terminal Improvement, of the I. C. He is president of Flossmoor State Bank, director of the Chicago Regional Planning association and has been president of the Village of Flossmoor. He is a member of all the leading societies of engineers and a civil engineer and business man of highest standing.

Charles B. Miller of Maywood, candidate for county commissioner, has been extremely active in the battle to clean up the DesPlaines river, and so is well known in all DesPlaines river valley towns. As a member and officer of the Isaac Walton League and of the several non-pollution groups which have led the fight to have the Sanitary District reclaim the DesPlaines river, he has had much to do with bringing about better conditions in the west suburbs. He is a Mason. He has been an official of the United States Rubber company for the last 18 years.

Dr. Thomas E. Roberts of Oak Park, candidate for county commissioner, is a graduate of Rush Medical college, and has practiced medicine in Chicago and Oak Park since 1889. He is a member of the staff of West Suburban hospital. In the Spanish-American war he was captain and surgeon of the First Illinois Volunteers and saw service in Cuba as surgeon in charge of an army division. For 28 years, Dr. Roberts has been a director of the Oak Park Trust and Savings Bank. Besides being affiliated with many civic, military and medical organizations, he is a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Oak Park First Congregational church, and the Oak Park Chamber of Commerce.

FIRE DEMONSTRATION FOR AVIATION

The duGas Non-Liquid (Dry Chemical) method of fire extinguishing established a new standard of efficiency for first aid fire fighting equipment in a recent demonstration for the Aviation industry, held at the Curtiss-Wright Flying Field, Valley Stream, L. I. The above photographs show the fire at its height, and one minute and three seconds later, under control. A trench 10 ft. x 30 ft. was filled with 300 gallons of oil, 170 gallons of high test gasoline, and 25 gallons pyroxylin lacquer, acetone, and "dope". A wooden structure was erected in the trench, coated with lacquer, "dope", and airplane wing material, to represent the burning surface of an airplane. All this was ignited and allowed to burn several minutes. The aviation officials were enthusiastic in their praise of the almost instantaneous effect of the duGas non-liquid method of blotting out flames and smoke, and in controlling the fire. Because of its speed in these respects, many fire rescues will be possible. duGas apparatus cannot freeze, nor cause damage or injury to property. Be on watch for the duGas Flying Fire Fighter—a Vought-Corsair airplane! It may be landing on your nearest Flying Field soon, to give a demonstration of modern fire fighting!

Conoco To Put on Historical Program

The story of the quest of Coronado and his little band of Spanish noblemen for the fabled Spanish Golden Cities of the New World, forms the background for this week's radio presentation of historical drama by the Conoco Adventures over the N. B. C. Network on Thursday, February 13, at 10:30 o'clock.

Hardships endured by the gallant group of titled adventurers in their heroic march from Mexico City far to the North into what is now New Mexico, with a side expedition into Quivira, now the state of Kansas, are graphically reproduced in the radio playlet. How they battled Indians, sickness, mutineers, and other handicaps, but pushed persistently onward seeking the cities which were reputed to be paved with gold and walled with silver, is graphically reproduced. In the end they had to return empty-handed without having discovered anything more than the now famous natural beauty-spots of New Mexico, such as the Zuni Indian ruins of Cibola, and the queblo of Acoma, which are the shrines of present-day motor tourists. A delicate thread of romance built around the love affair of one of Coronado's noble lieutenants, and his Spanish sweetheart who waited two ears for his return from the wilderness, runs through the playlet, while special embellishment is provided by a musical background from the Conoco full concert orchestra.

The program is one of a series produced weekly by the Continental Oil Company, and is heard over W. L. S., Chicago.

Look Out For Dodder Seed

Warning against sowing clover seed containing Dodder seed is issued today by Clarence F. Buck, director of the state department of agriculture. The prevalence of this weed seed in red clover is alarming and decidedly detrimental.

Of 213 lots of red clover harvested in Illinois last year, and analyzed in the state's seed laboratory, sixty were found unsalable, due to the presence of Dodder seed. Seed concerns which buy in quantities, have turned down shipments of clover seed because of Dodder content. A seedsmen in Taylorville, last month, reported a carlot of clover seed in distress at Cincinnati, because the consignee refused to accept delivery. Dodder, according to authorities in the plant industry division, is a parasite that clings to the clover plant, and saps its sustenance from the clover. In addition to its detrimental effect upon the clover plant, its seeds, mingled with the clover, tend to spread it into unfested territory unless the seed is thoroughly cleaned before sowing.

Other weed seeds that are most prevalent in red clover, judging from the records of analysis, are Buckhorn and curled dock. The analysis recently rejected as unsalable, 115 samples of seed containing Buck horn, and found 23 of 213 red clover samples illegal on account of curled dock.

Fifteen years after his graduation, Dr. Caldwell became famous for a single prescription, which now, after forty years, is still making friends.

Today Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the world's most popular laxative. Millions of people never think of using anything else when they're constipated, headachy, bilious, feverish or weak; when breath is bad, tongue coated, or they're suffering from nausea, gas, or lack of appetite or energy.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is made today according to the original formula, from herbs and other pure ingredients. It is pleasant-tasting; thorough in the most obstinate cases; gently effective for women and children. Above all, it represents a doctor's choice of what is safe for the bowels.

Alaskan Bears' Winter

Quarters Steam Heated

Lured into the valley of many smokes by volcanic warmth, some of Alaska's big brown bears delayed going into hibernation over two months, reports a hunting party returned from the Alaska peninsula.

Just as dogs pick for their beds the hottest place behind the coal range, tracks and signs showed plainly that bears likewise selected warmed rocks in the steamed area for lounging quarters.

Ground around the moist fumaroles held the claw marks of the big brutes when the hunters passed them. It was not unusual to find bear tracks leading straight up to one of the large open vents. In one place the hot ground apparently excited a bear's curiosity, for he had clawed away the cast-off minerals about the hole, leaving deep claw marks.

It is believed many bears have taken up winter quarters in the steam-heated region.

CHAPTER XIV

Through a Sea of Floating
Brimstone to Fiji

We had all along figured that we might have to go to the Fiji islands, where a constant stream of sailing ships was always taking aboard copra for the munition factories in the United States. But we also were fully aware that sailing in a little open boat from Cook Islands to the Fijis might easily be a perilous venture. Our voyage so far had gone fairly smoothly. There had been no hurricanes, and we thanked God for that. But now the weather turned against us for a whole week, and we began to think we had run across St. Swiftness's day. We had forgotten—if we had ever known it—that this was the time when the equinoctial storms broke in those waters. Had we known it, we never would have headed for the Fijis.

For ten days we sailed through a drenching downpour, the rainy season. The sea was choppy. The wind whipped the spray and the crests of waves over us in driving sheets. In our cockleshell, things were afloat, and it was bitter cold at night. We threw our mattresses overboard. In their soaked condition they were far worse to sleep on than the wet planks, and there was no use keeping them any longer. When the sun occasionally shone, our drenched clothes would dry quickly and stiffen like boards of salt. They rubbed and scratched the skin off our bodies. When they got wet again, which they promptly did, the salt would soak into the raw flesh and inflame it. Our bodies felt as though they were on fire. We had no regular sleep. Instead, a man would doze away suddenly at almost any time. Even the helmsman would drowse off like that, and, with a free rudder, the boat would veer around crazily.

One morning, when dawn came, we could hardly believe our eyes. The sea had turned from its normal blue to yellow. On scooping up a pall of it we found a scum that we concluded must be brimstone and ash. We were sailing through a field of brimstone. For three days we saw from horizon to horizon this yellowish expanse of volcanic dust. It no doubt came from some submarine eruption, perhaps the one we could thank for the tidal wave that had wrecked the Seedealer. The waves carried the gritty dust into the boat. It penetrated everything. Every surface became like sandpaper. Our skin grew rough and caked with it. Our blankets were like sandpaper, and so were our clothes.

As the voyage grew longer, we had to be more and more sparing with our drinking water. The supply began to run low. We could no longer collect rain water in our sails. They were coated with salt. We tried to wash them out in the rain, but then the spray and the waves kept washing in and kept the sails salty and added a further salting to any water we collected. Our supply of fruit that we had picked up in the Cook Islands ran out now, and about all we had left was hardtack, not in itself a thirst-quenching kind of food. Our gums dried out and were like rough iron. We sucked our fingers and gnawed at our knuckles to bring a flow of saliva and refresh our burning mouths.

And then came the sailor's worst enemy, scurvy. Our diet of hardtack, lack of exercise, and general hardships brought it on. Our knees swelled up so badly that we had to cut out our trousers. The rocking of the boat knocked them together or against the wooden sides, and then the pain was almost unendurable. Our lips were black and broken. Our tongues were swollen and hard. It was as if you had a stone in your mouth. Our gums became snow white and seemed to recede. Our teeth felt as though they were sticking far out of our jaws. They hurt constantly and were loose and felt as if they were going to drop out. With these shaking teeth we ate our hardtack. I never before knew how hard hardtack was. We had an ending headache, and it seemed as if something were pressing our eyes right out of their sockets. We got water in our legs, and could hardly stand any more. We had to slide around the seats to do what had to be done in navigating the boat. In scurvy, the blood turns to water, first in the legs and then upward. When it reaches the heart you die. Where the blood is water the flesh is white, and you can see the line of the white creep slowly up. We wondered who would be the first—the first to have the line of white rise to the heart. My boys made marks to show the line clearly and mark its daily progress upward. It was a kind of sport. It was keeping a daily log, a log of death. Parmien was the youngest of us, but he seemed to be on his way to win the race. The line was higher on him than on the others. He joked about it. There was nothing terrible in it. We were all in a deep apathy. Our brains were like balls of cotton. Nothing mattered, certainly not death. Death would come, we thought, as a relief from these sufferings. The prospect of its arrival became more and more attractive.

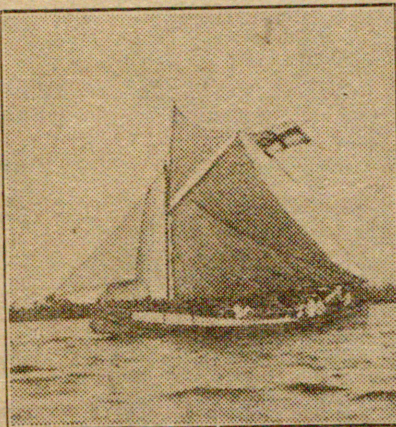

"Boys," I said, "let us take pieces of ballast iron and tie them around our necks. One plunge and in a few seconds all of our pains will be gone."

"Yes. All right." There were mutterings of assent.

But Parmien, the youngest, the one who was nearest death, picked up the comic volume, Fritz Reuter's "Trip to Constantinople," and began to read a funny story. We all laughed. That book had eased many a hard hour before, on this ghastly voyage, and now, perhaps, it saved our lives.

And so we continued on with but one instinct left in us, the sailor's instinct to navigate his craft. Mechanically, without any particular hope, without any particular thought, we trimmed the sails, guided the helm, and calculated our position as best we could. Nautical science was at a low ebb among us now. We were too far gone to reckon exactly where we were, and were only vague in our steering. All we knew was that we should steer to the west where the island groups were.

I won't try to say how we felt when we saw a speck on the horizon and the speck grew bigger and turned into the familiar green of a tropical island. We had been so much like dead men, who had thought that nothing could ever make us glad again. By Joe, that sight gladdened our hearts, though. We grew even weaker, but it was the weakness of happiness. As we drew near, we thought of nothing but land, fresh water, and soft food, a soft banana, for our loose, shaky teeth. Never mind ships or capturing ships. Never mind being taken prisoners. We headed straight toward a crude pier that stuck out into the water.

Two Thousand Miles in This Open Boat.

A crowd of a hundred natives, perhaps less, were gathered at the landing place watching our approach. They were ferocious looking black warriors. We had now passed from the region of the brown, indolent Polynesians to those of the black, warlike Melanesians.

"What ugly customers," I said to Lendemann. "They look like cannibals."

The forbidding battle array on shore stirred a new strength in us. It certainly looked like a cannibal island, and miserable as we were, still we could not escape the thought of our skin and bones being fattened up in preparation for an old-time South sea banquet.

"Clear the boat for action!" I ordered. Even in our present straits, we could still remember our old naval ways.

The German flag went jerking to our masthead, and rifles and machine guns were displayed.

A shout went up on shore and a babel of talk. Voices yelled in pidgin English.

"You Germans? How you get here from way off? Come on. Germans great warriors."

Still wary, we drew near the landing pier and talked with the natives. They were unmistakably friendly, very cordial. From what they told us they had, in the first place, grievances against their masters, the British. Then quite a number had been recruited and sent to the trenches in France. There some had been killed and some wounded, and most who survived had contracted tuberculosis from the unaccustomed climate and had been returned to the island worn-out shells of men.

Objected to Shaving by Monkey Apprentice

Sir Harry Lauder is fond of telling the following story:

The sailor son of an Arbroath barber had brought home with him a large, hairy, and particularly ugly monkey, which he presented to his father. The barber trained the monkey to assist him in the lathering of his customers' chins, much to their amusement.

One day a stranger dropped into the shop, and had a good look at the monkey sitting in a far corner staring intelligently at a comic paper. By and by the barber was called to the door to answer some query or other, and in his absence the monkey seized the work diligently on the customer's face. Afterwards he grabbed a razor and started to stop it with equal diligence, but in a grossly careless manner. Then he clambered up on the arm of the chair and made as if to begin shaving the alarmed customer.

"No, no, ma wee mannie!" said the latter, jumping to his feet and pushing the monkey aside. "I've no objections to ye soapin' me, an' yer stropin' maybe a' richt, but yer father'll hae to do the shavin'!"

His Songs

In these days it is customary for the composer to outlive his songs. Newman Flower.

They said there were no white men on the island, and we longed to go ashore. With our scurvy-swollen legs we could hardly stand, however. It wouldn't do to be hauled ashore as cripples. It would not increase these warriors' respect for Germans as fighting men: Cripples do not fare well among savage peoples, and we thought it best not to reveal our impotence. So we refused the natives' invitations to partake of their hospitality, told them we must hurry on to fight the British, and asked for fresh water and bananas. They brought great gourds full of water and bunches of bananas. We drew up to the dock and they handed these precious supplies down for us.

We had our fill of bananas and water, and, with shouts resounding from the shore, set sail again. This lucky spot was Niue, an outlying isle of the Fiji group. The sun blazed down upon us, but a fair wind carried us along briskly. The first day after leaving Niue we felt better. The second day we were on the road to high good health. It is amazing the curative effect of fresh fruit, especially bananas, when you are suffering from scurvy. They seem to put new life and blood into you and draw the sickness right out of the body as though some huge and marvelous poultice had been applied.

Our cure was completed at the isle of Katakanga. It is quite a large isle and inhabited by more natives. We came to the main body of the Fijis, and sailed into a large gulf surrounded by distant islands. It was night, and we decided to wait till morning to see how many ships were passing and what island they were bound for. We reefed our sails and threw out our sea anchor, that sack-like drag of canvas that keeps a boat from turning broadside to the wind and waves and from drifting too fast. We lay down for a decent night's sleep. We would need all our energies for the morrow.

A sudden shout. I awakened. It was just daybreak. Straight ahead was a wild white line of surf. It broke over a long, low coral reef, and just behind it was a high cliff. We had run into a strong current during the night. Krauss had awakened just in time to see that it had carried us perilously near the reef. The wind was sweeping us toward the breakers.

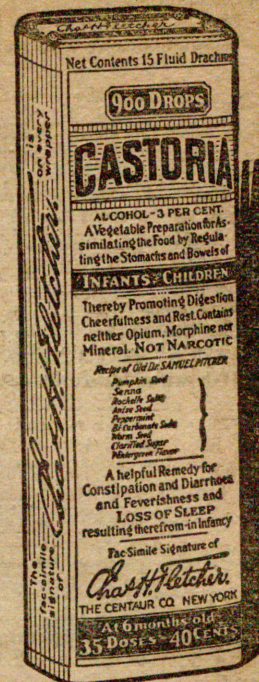

"Raise sail," I shouted. We scrambled frantically and raised the canvas. The wind was inshore. We could not head into it. We were being blown slowly, inexorably onto the reef.

People accustomed to the surfs along ordinary coasts have no idea of what breakers are like off the islands of the South Pacific. The surf all over the Pacific is particularly strong. But when it breaks over a mid-oceanic coral reef nothing can live in it. The strongest swimmer is sure to be dashed to pieces against the jagged coral.

And there wasn't the slightest hope of our moving against the wind and backing away from the reef. Slowly, slowly we were nearing it. The breakers roared like thunder. In a few moments we would be flung into that death trap of water and coral.

Pistol in hand, I shouted something to the effect that I didn't intend to be ground to death by the breakers on that jagged coral. The others looked for their pistols. One could not find his. Between the pull of the current and the power of our sails, we were drifting along the reef, edging toward it. The wind gave us an extra push. We were in the backwash, only a few yards away from the breakers. And still one man could not find his pistol. Instinctively, we all waited. And that was what saved our lives. Suddenly we saw the reef drop away, slanting back at a sharp angle, and a moment later we were drifting parallel to the coral.

Restless
Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as its tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

A COLD

As soon as you realize you've taken cold—take some tablets of Bayer Aspirin. Almost before your head can stuff-up, you feel your cold is conquered. Those aches and pains you felt coming on will soon subside. Relief is almost instantaneous! Even if your cold has gained headway, and your temples throb and your very bones ache, these tablets will bring prompt relief. It is better, of course, to take Bayer Aspirin at the very first sneeze or cough—it will head-off the cold and spare you much discomfort. Get the genuine, with proven directions for colds and headaches; neuralgia, neuritis, sore throat, and many important uses.

5218 Happy People
Give up Their Secret

JUST suppose you could get 5000 joyously happy people together in one big hall and could ask them what made them all so full of pep. Suppose, strangely enough, that all of them had discovered the same way to be happy. You would feel that here, if anywhere in the world, was the secret of how to get joy out of life.

This is just what has happened during the last few weeks. We knew there were millions of people who had found the secret of happiness in the same way, and we asked them in one or two small announcements in the magazines and newspapers to tell us their story. Letters came to us from practically all over the globe.

All of them said "The secret of happiness is health."

How to get this health? The way that all of these people had discovered was not some magic medicine, not some powerful drug, not some difficult course of training—but only a simple, harmless, natural method. It was to keep the body internally clean, sweeping its natural poisons away each day, regularly as clock work—by the use of Nujol.

These people had made a great discovery. They had found out that Nujol contains no drugs; that it is as tasteless and colorless as pure water; pleasant to take and forms no habit; that it cannot hurt you, no matter how much you take; that it is non-fattening; not absorbed by the body;

They have found the way to Buoyant, Zestful Health, and the Joy that goes with it that it is only the internal lubrication your body needs, just like any other machine.

It sounds like a fairy tale, doesn't it, to be well and happy so easily? Well, all you need to do to find out if these people have made a real discovery is to get a bottle of Nujol today at any drug store and take it for two weeks. It costs but a few cents and it makes you feel like a million dollars. The sure way to happiness is through health.

Japan Comes First in Crusade Against Kiss

The antikissing crusade, which started in Russia some time ago, appears to be spreading. Kansas has now taken up the cudgels against the kiss. "Don't kiss in crowded places or in badly ventilated rooms" is one of the warnings that has been issued to the citizens of this American state. Another is: "Don't kiss a person who has a chill or is fevered." But Japan is still the real paradise of those who want to abolish kissing. The kiss is in such disfavor there that it cannot even be shown on the cinema screen. Some day, perhaps, the anti-kiss crusaders will publish statistics to show that in Japan people are much healthier than anywhere else in the world. That would be a big point in their favor—if the figures could really be interpreted in this way. But perhaps they can't; and, anyway, it isn't likely to make any difference.—Montreal Family Herald.

STATE CAPITOL NEWS

Hiram L. Williamson, Illinois Press Association

Halbert O. Crews, Wilmette, former managing editor of the Springfield News-Record, has been appointed public administrator of Cook county, by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson. He succeeds Percival B. Coffin, whose term has expired. For the last seven years Mr. Crews has been director of public relations for the Chicago surface lines. He was a prominent figure in the Illinois centennial celebration in 1918, and secretary of the committee on submission of the constitutional convention of 1922. Mr. Crews was superintendent of department reports during the administration of former Gov. Frank O. Lowden.

Secretary of State William J. Stratton's office collected $21,236,401.46 in fees in 1929, a material increase over the previous year. Collections of the automobile department, totaling $17,087,209.11, may be used only for roads, while those of the other departments of the secretary of state's office go into the general revenue fund and contribute toward the reduction of taxes. The cost of administering the automobile department amounted to only 3.5 per cent of the total fees collected, which is the lowest operating percentage of any similar department in the United States.

The death of Dr. David Felmley, seventy-two, president of Illinois State Normal university at Normal, removed one of the leading educators of the state. Doctor Felmley had been president of the largest teachers' colleges in Illinois for nearly 30 years. Funeral services were held at the university auditorium and in Carrollton, where interment was made.

Outstanding business men, agriculturists, stock fanciers, dairymen, and poultrymen, were appointed by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson to three of the state's most important advisory boards: the board of public advisors in the department of public works and buildings; the board of agricultural advisors; and the board of state fair advisors in the department of agriculture.

The formation of an ice barrier in the Wabash in the vicinity of Palestine added a threat of new floods to eastern Illinois and southwestern Indiana. The governor received a telegram from State Representative F. W. Lewis, Robinson, asking that the consent of the federal government be secured to dynamite the ice barriers. Governor Emmerson incorporated Representative Lewis' telegram in a message to federal authorities at Washington urging immediate action. United States Senator Glenn delivered Governor Emmerson's message to Secretary of War Hurley, who ordered an immediate investigation by the division army engineer.

Suit to clear the title to the land on which the Lincoln monument stands was filed in Circuit court by Assistant Attorney General G. E. Nelson. H. H. Cleaveland, as director of the department of public works and buildings, instituted the suit on behalf of the state of Illinois against the Lincoln Monument association. The six and seven-hundredth acres on which the monument is located was given in trust by the National Lincoln Monument association to the members of the Lincoln family. The state legislature accepted a conveyance of the land in 1895 but no deed was delivered. The 13 members of the original monument association are dead and there is no one to execute a deed. Proceedings in court are merely a safeguard in the matter of expenditure of the $183,000 appropriated by the last general assembly for remodeling the monument and general improvement work, under the law which makes it illegal for the state to spend money on improvement of property to which it has no title.

During the week ended January 4, Illinois mines had a total output of only 1,125,000 net tons, a loss of 133,000 net tons from the preceding week. Illinois was the only major coal producing state to experience a slump during that week, according to officials of the bureau of mines, United States Department of Commerce.

Illinois farmers boosted their soy bean seed producing acreage in 1929 by 25.3 per cent. J. C. Hackleman, crops extension specialist, said at the thirty-third annual farm and home week of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois. The average yield of 16½ bushels per acre was up to the high level set in 1928. May 10 to May 20 are the most satisfactory dates for planting soy beans for seed production, Hackleman said.

The following were named to the board of park advisors: Mrs. Frank G. Allen of Moline; Brig. Gen. Abel Davis, vice president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, Chicago; Robert Kingery, Chicago, secretary of the Chicago Regional Planning commission; John M. Mitchell, Mr. Carmel, banker; C. J. Hug, Highland, manufacturer. This board has an important task to perform—that of recommending to the next general assembly, or one in the near future, a comprehensive system of state parks. It will co-operate with Director H. H. Cleaveland of the department of public works and buildings in formulating its recommendations.

Appointees to the board of state fair advisors are: Mrs. W. H. Stuart, Chicago; T. P. Smith, Danville, reappointed; Leslie P. Volz, Chicago, reappointed; J. E. Taggart, Freeport, former state representative; Milton Hay Brown, livestock dealer and farmer, Springfield; Walter D. Alexander, Bloomington, banker and horse fancier; William R. Hayes, DuQuoin, president of the DuQuoin State Fair association, and dairyman.

The appointments to the board of agricultural advisors are: Representative Frank A. McCarthy, Elgin; Earl Smith, Detroit, president of the Illinois Agricultural association; Senator Simon E. Lantz, Conserveville; Representative Charles M. Turner, Wenona; Thomas D. Parkin, Washburn; Fred Bomberger, Reno; H. W. Woodmansee, Carlinville; Julius Postel, Mascoutah; Harvey J. Sconce, Sidell; Representative Calistus Bruer, Pontiac; Representative David Hunter, Jr., Rockford; Senator Charles W. Baker, Monroe Center; Representative Henry F. Scarborough, Payson; James A. Meeks, Danville; A. Otis Arnold, Quincy, former state representative and editor of a poultry journal.

State aid totaling $23,636.76 is being distributed by the state department of agriculture under the supervision of Director Clarence E. Buck to farm bureaus in 86 counties which held 4-H club shows in 1929. Gov. Louis L. Emmerson has announced. The measure authorizing the distribution was passed at the last session of the legislature. Under its provisions, the 4-H clubs that hold competitive exhibits of livestock, poultry, grain and other agricultural products may derive aid to the extent of three-fourths of the premiums paid, up to a total of $700. Thus each county may draw as much as $525 from the fund. Of the 86 county clubs participating in 1929, 13 are entitled to the maximum allotment.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson has just announced acceptance of the invitation of the Illinois Farmers' Institute to speak at its annual convention at Galesburg, February 18, 19 and 20. The ladies of the household science division have arranged a thrift program for their entire morning session February 19.

A person convicted of crime must be delivered to the prison to which he was sentenced by the trial judge, Attorney General Carlstrom has ruled in an opinion to Rodney Brandon, director of the department of public welfare.

Immunization of all children under ten years of age is advocated by Dr. Andy Hall, state director of health, to cut down the increase in diphtheria cases in Illinois. Diphtheria prevalence is now 45 per cent above what it was this time last year, Doctor Hall states. "Toxin-antitoxin given to children now," said Doctor Hall, "will get them through the coming spring without contracting the disease."

Birds in the neighborhood of Rantoul are literally receiving their food from the skies, as Sergt. Paul Jackson of Chanute field has begun distributing 200 bags of bird feed from his plane, flying slowly over hedge rows and river bottoms. The Isaak Walton league of Rantoul sponsored the plan.

Counsel for the McHenry County Oil company will ask the Supreme court at the February term to dismiss that firm's pending appeal in a test suit filed by them, attacking the validity of the 1929 gas tax law, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom has announced. The withdrawal of this suit leaves the state free to use the more than $12,000,000 already paid to the state for its road building program.

Results of a survey among the 3,000 men now on parole from the various penal institutions of the state show that more than 70 per cent of the men paroled in Illinois "make good," Rodney Brandon, director of the state department of public welfare, has stated. The survey was made after a noted eastern writer challenged the value of parole, stating that only 10 per cent of paroled convicts make good.

Lesson for February 9

WARNINGS AND PROMISES (TEMPERANCE LESSON)

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 7:1-29 (Print vv. 1-12, 15-27).
GOLDEN TEXT—Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down and cast into the fire.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Obeying Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Keeping the Law of Christ.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Truth About Alcoholic Beverages.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Cutting Down the Corrupt Tree.

I. Concerning Censorious Judgments (vv. 1-12).

1. The sin and folly of (vv. 1-5). This prohibition should not be so construed as to forbid our making an estimate of the lives of those about us, for "by their fruits ye shall know them." Neither should it prevent us from administering rebuke to those who deserve it. It is not wrong to condemn the errors and faults of those who are in the way of sin. It does not mean that sin should go unrebuked until we ourselves are perfect. It rebukes readiness to blame others and to magnify their weakness and error.

2. The duty of discrimination in dealing out holy things (v. 6).

The Gospel should be preached to all. We should turn from those who reject and treat with contempt the Gospel message.

3. Qualification for discrimination (vv. 7-12).

(1) A life of prayer (vv. 7-11). Only those are able to rightly divide the word of truth who live a life of prayer. (2) A disposition to treat others as one would be treated (v. 12). It is not merely to refrain from doing injury, but positively to do for others that which we would desire to have done unto ourselves under similar circumstances. No man can live this rule unless he has been born from above and abides with Christ.

II. Entrance into the Kingdom Urged (vv. 13, 14).

There are two ways only before each one—life and death, heaven and hell. The narrow gate is the way of life. While the gate is strait and the way narrow, it is an open gate and the only gate to life, and all are invited to enter. The gate which opens to every good thing in life is strait—restricted. The way of Jesus Christ is not the way of the crowd.

III. Warnings Against False Teachers. (vv. 15-20).

1. Their real existence (v. 15). Ever since God has had a people, false prophets and teachers have appeared among them.

2. Their nature (v. 15).

(1) They are hypocritical. The devil does his most successful work by masquerading as an angel of light (II Cor. 11:14, 15). His ministers appear in this way and turn people from the narrow to the broad way. (2) They are destructive. This is suggested by their being ravening wolves. It is when the wolf is in sheep's clothing that it does its most destructive work. False teachers are doing their most deadly work while pretending to be loyal to the Bible and Jesus Christ.

3. The unfailing test (vv. 16-18).

"By their fruits ye shall know them." Every tree bears its own kind of fruit. One may search the universe in vain for an exception to this rule. It is equally true in the spiritual world—there is a vital connection between faith of heart and fruit of the life.

4. Their ultimate end (v. 19).

Although God has infinite patience and bears long. He will see to it that this evil work does not go on forever.

IV. The Dangers of Empty Profession (vv. 21-23).

1. Merely calling Christ Lord will not answer for doing his will (v. 21).

2. One may do supernatural works and not be saved (vv. 22, 23). Not all supernatural worlds are divine. There is a supernatural world of evil. It is the business of every believer to test the Spirit (I John 4:1, 2).

3. Separation from God (v. 23). One may have been a Sunday school teacher or a minister and have performed many mighty works and yet hear from Christ the awful words, "I never knew you; depart from Me."

V. The One and Only Safe Way (vv. 24-29).

1. Hear the sayings of Christ (v. 24). To do this one must give attention to reading the Word of God.

2. Do what Christ commands (vv. 24-29). Hearing and doing the teachings of Christ is building upon solid rock. Hearing and not doing Christ's sayings is to build upon the sand.

Properly Protected

If a man have Christ in his heart, heaven before his eyes, and only as much of temporal blessing as is just needful to carry him safely through life, then pain and sorrow have little to shoot at.—William Burns.

Faith

By faith we understand that the worlds have been framed by the word of God, so that what is seen hath not been made out of things which do appear.—Epistle to the Hebrews.

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of good water.

Fasters Draw Crowds
Men who put on fasting endurance exhibitions have been drawing crowds in England. They are especially popular at seaside resorts. At Blackpool recently three men were living on a diet of lemonade and cigarettes. They were housed in glass cabinets, and in spite of cries of "fake," crowds swarmed about the cabinets. When Sacco, well known for his fasting feats, passed the sixtieth day of his fast the throngs of curious were so large that it was difficult to handle them.

Railroad Improvement

Electric headlights on locomotives were first used early in 1886.

Makes Life Sweeter

Children's stomachs sour, and need an anti-acid. Keep their systems sweet with Phillips Milk of Magnesia! When tongue or breath tells of acid condition—correct it with a spoonful of Phillips. Most men and women have been comforted by this universal sweetener—more mothers should invoke its aid for their children. It is a pleasant thing to take, yet neutralizes more acid than the harsher things too often employed for the purpose. No household should be without it.

Phillips is the genuine, prescription product physicians endorse for general use; the name is important. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. registered trade mark of the Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.
